CASE NO. 10-cv-4472 BZ

ELECTRONIC FRONTIER FOUNDATION'S REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

Hon. Bernard Zimmerman
Courtroom C – 15th Floor

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 201 and the authorities cited below, the Electronic Frontier Foundation (“Amicus”) hereby requests that this Court take judicial notice of the following materials:

- West Coast Productions v. Does 1-2010, No. 3:10-cv-00093 (N.D.W. Va., Dec. 16, 2010), attached hereto as Exhibit A. In this Order, as well as virtually identical Orders issued in five other “mass copyright” lawsuits—each alleging a single count of copyright infringement of the same work—the court found that all defendants except Doe 1 were improperly joined; severed those defendants from the action; and quashed subpoenas seeking identifying information for those defendants. See Combat Zone, Inc., v. Does 1-245, No. 3:10-cv-00096 (N.D.W. Va. Dec. 16, 2010); Combat Zone, Inc., v. Does 1-1,037, No. 3:10-cv-00095 (N.D.W. Va. Dec. 16, 2010); *Patrick Collins, Inc., v. This request is made in connection with EFF's amicus brief regarding this Court's Order to Show Cause.

A district court may take judicial notice of facts that are "not subject to reasonable dispute in that [they are] either (1) generally known within the territorial jurisdiction of the trial court or (2) capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned." Fed. R. Evid. 201(b); see also Limestone Dev. Corp. v. Vill. of Lemont, 473 F. Supp. 2d 858, 868 (N.D. Ill. 2007) (taking judicial notice of state court litigation because "[j]udicial notice is premised on the concept that certain facts or propositions exist which a court may accept as true without requiring additional proof from the opposing parties"). Furthermore, the Federal Rules of Evidence require a court to take judicial notice of a matter "if requested by a party and supplied with the necessary information." Fed. R. Exhibits A-G are all orders from United States Federal District Courts. It is well established that a court may take judicial notice of matters of public record. *Opoka v. 7 For the foregoing reasons, the Court may properly consider Exhibits A-G as it reviews

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA
MARTINSBURG

WEST COAST PRODUCTIONS, INC.,

Plaintiff,

v.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:10-CV-93
(BAILEY)

DOES 1-2010,

Defendants.

ORDER

Plaintiff West Coast Productions, Inc. is the alleged owner of the copyright of the hardcore pornographic film “Bomb Ass White Booty 14.” The plaintiff brought this suit for copyright infringement against John Does 1-2010, individuals who allegedly illegally downloaded and distributed “Bomb Ass White Booty 14.” When the suit was filed, the plaintiff did not know the names of the alleged infringers, but had identified the Internet Protocol (“IP”) addresses of the computers associated with the infringement. To discover the actual names of the Doe defendants in this case, the plaintiff subpoenaed the Internet Service Providers (“ISPs”) who provide service to the identified IP addresses, and the ISPs gave notice to their customers of the subpoena.

Upon inspection of the Complaint [Doc. 1] in the above-captioned case, however, this Court now finds that the Doe defendants have been improperly joined. For the reasons outlined below, the Court finds that all defendants except Doe 1 should be SEVERED from this action.

DISCUSSION

I. Applicable Joinder

Federal Rule 20(a)(2) of Civil Procedure allows a plaintiff to join multiple defendants in one action if:

(A) any right to relief is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and

(B) any question of law or fact common to all defendants will arise in the action.

To remedy improperly joined parties, the court should not dismiss the action outright, but “the court may at any time, on just terms, add or drop a party.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 21. The court may act upon motion by a party or sua sponte. Id.

II. Analysis

In its Complaint, the plaintiff appears to allege that joinder is based upon the Does' use of some of the same ISPs and some of the same peer-to-peer ("P2P") networks to infringe the same copyright. (See [Doc. 1] at ¶¶ 3-5). "However, merely committing the same type of violation in the same way does not link defendants together for purposes of joinder." Laface Records, LLC, v. Does 1-38, 2008 WL 544992, *2 (E.D. N.C. Feb. 27, 2008).

Moreover, several courts agree that where there is no allegation that multiple defendants have acted in concert, joinder is improper. See BMG Music v. Does 1-4, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53237, *5-6 (N.D. Cal. July 31, 2006) (sua sponte severing multiple defendant in action where only connection between them was allegation they used same ISP to conduct copyright infringement); Interscope Records v. Does 1-25, 2004 U.S. Dist.

LEXIS 27782, *19 (M.D. Fla. Apr. 1, 2004 (magistrate judge recommended sua sponte severance of multiple defendants in action where only connection between them was allegation they used same ISP and P2P network to conduct copyright infringement). Accordingly, this Court finds that the defendants' alleged use of some of the same ISPs and P2P networks to commit copyright infringement is, without more, insufficient for permissive joinder under Rule 20.¹

Further evidence of misjoinder is found in the undeniable fact that each defendant will also likely have a different defense. One district court finding improper joinder explained it this way:

Comcast subscriber John Doe 1 could be an innocent parent whose internet access was abused by her minor child, while John Doe 2 might share a computer with a roommate who infringed Plaintiffs' works. John Does 3 through 203 could be thieves, just as Plaintiffs believe, inexcusably pilfering Plaintiffs' property and depriving them, and their artists, of the royalties they are rightly owed.

BMG Music v. Does 1-203, 2004 WL 953888, *1 (E.D. Pa. Apr. 2, 2004).

For this reason also, the Court finds joinder in this case improper. However, insofar as Rule 21 states that misjoinder of parties is not a ground for dismissing an action, this Court will not dismiss the Doe defendants. Instead, following Rule 21, this Court chooses the route of severance. In fact, this Court will sever all Doe defendants except Doe 1. See BMG Music v. Does 1-203, 2004 WL 953888 (E.D. Pa. Apr. 2, 2004) (upon motion for reconsideration, court upheld its sua sponte order of severance of all but one Doe defendant). Because all claims except Doe 1, whose ISP is AT&T WorldNet Services, will be severed from this action, the subpoenas served in this action pertaining to any other Doe defendant are no longer valid.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that:

1. All defendants except Doe 1 are hereby SEVERED from this action;
2. The subpoenas served on AT&T WorldNet Services, Charter Communications, Clearwire Corporation, Comcast Cable, Cox Communications, EarthLink, Frontier Communications, Insight Communications Company, Optimum Online, Qwest Communications, RCN Corporation, Road Runner, Road Runner Business, Sprint, Sprint PCS, Time Warner Telecom, Verizon Internet Services, WideOpenWest, and Windstream Communications are hereby QUASHED as to the severed defendants, Does 2-2010. In this regard, the plaintiff SHALL NOTIFY the recipients of these subpoenas that said subpoenas have been quashed.
3. Plaintiff West Coast Productions, Inc. MAY, within thirty (30) days, file individual amended complaints² and submit filing fees for those defendants against whom they wish to proceed;
4. Upon election to proceed, Plaintiff's Counsel SHALL SUBMIT to the Clerk of the ²These amended complaints shall proceed only against Does with IP addresses of computers located within the State of West Virginia. According to testimony presented to the Court, there is a publicly-available website that allows the plaintiff to determine the physical location of each Doe's computer at the time of the alleged copyright infringements. Specifically, Craig Goldberg, who supervises Time Warner Cable, Inc.'s subpoena compliance team, testified that the physical location of any IP address can be determined from a simple Google search. (Nov. 30, 2010, Hearing Transcript, at 21-26). Moreover, it appears to the Court that the search for Does from West Virginia can be narrowed by eliminating the Does with ISPs that do not provide internet service within the State.

ORDER

A consortium of recording companies have filed several recent lawsuits in this Court, alleging that numerous unnamed defendants ("Does") have violated federal copyright laws by downloading music from an "online media distribution system." (See attached list of cases.) Each of these cases names multiple defendants, with as many as 151 "Does" being named in one of the actions. The recent cases actually encompass 254 defendants. It appears that the Plaintiffs may intend to file future suits as well. There are no allegations in any of the cases that the defendants are in any way related to each other, or that they acted in concert or as a group in their allegedly offending actions.

With regard to joinder of claims, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provide that multiple parties:

may be joined in one action as defendants if there is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative, any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all defendants will arise in the action.

FED. R. CIV. P. 20(a). There is no allegation in the recently-filed cases that the claims against the joined defendants "arise out of the same transaction, occurrence or series of transactions or occurrences." The claim against each defendant is individual, based on individual acts of each defendant, and, if proven, will result in unique damage claims. The defendants are not properly joined under Rule 20.

Moreover, there are practical reasons supporting severing the claims against the defendants. The filing fees for the recent four cases totaled $600, whereas the filing fees for 254 separate cases would have been $38,100. That is a considerable loss of revenue to the public coffers. Moreover, the closing of one 151-defendant case is treated as a single case for statistical purposes, when in fact each defendant should be treated as a single case for such purposes, given that the claim against each defendant is separate.

Because these four suits are in actuality 254 separate lawsuits, the Court sua sponte will dismiss without prejudice all but the first defendant in each case. Plaintiffs will be permitted to refile against the other defendants separately, upon the payment of the appropriate filing fee. In addition, Plaintiffs are ordered to file any future cases of this nature against one defendant at a time, and may not join defendants for their convenience.

IT IS SO ORDERED, this 17th day of November, 2004.

The application to take early discovery is granted, but only as to Doe 1. The reason is that this case appears to present the same problem as the so-called "DirectTV" cases. There, Judge Ware was eventually assigned 20 lawsuits, each involving multiple defendants. There, each of the multiple defendants (in each action) were accused of illegally intercepting encrypted satellite communications. There, Judge Ware held that the joinder of unrelated defendants violated FRCP 20 since, although the basic claim was similar, the claims arose out of different transactions or occurrences. So too here — at least on the surface

1 of the papers submitted. Such joinder may be an attempt to circumvent the filing fees by grouping
2 defendants into arbitrarily-joined actions but it could nonetheless appear improper under Rule 20. A copy
3 of Judge Ware's order in the DirectTV cases is appended.
4

5 Consequently, until plaintiffs can show that this case should be treated differently, it will be stayed
6 as to Does 2-12 and prosecuted as to Doe 1. Early discovery as to Doe 1 is now allowed, good cause
7 having been shown. Plaintiffs may seek the identity of Doe 1 (but only Doe 1) from Pacific Bell Internet.

ORDER

The plaintiff, VPR Internationale, is a Montreal, Quebec-based producer of adult entertainment content. VPR has filed this complaint against 1,017 Doe defendants identified only by Internet Protocol (“IP”) address. VPR alleges that these defendants have distributed adult videos in violation of VPR’s copyrights. To determine the identity of the 1,017 alleged copyright infringers, VPR filed an ex parte motion for expedited discovery so that it could immediately serve subpoenas on Internet service providers (“ISPs”) to determine the subscriber and location associated with each IP address. The court denied the motion for expedited discovery [9]. VPR filed an ex parte motion for reconsideration, which was denied on March 22, 2011, by text order.

VPR has now filed a motion to certify for interlocutory review the court’s denial of its motion for expedited discovery. VPR seeks certification for one controlling question of law:

Defendants’ identifies are unknown to the Plaintiff. Instead, each Defendant is associated with an Internet Protocol (IP) address. Internet Service Providers (ISPs) know identity and contact information associated with each IP address. Is the Plaintiff to entitled to discover this information by serving ISPs with subpoenas duces tecum under Fed. R. Civ. P. 45?

Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(d)(1) prohibits a party from “seek[ing] discovery from any source before the parties have conferred as required by Rule 26(f), except in a proceeding exempted from initial disclosure under Rule 26(a)(1)(B), or when authorized by these rules, by stipulation, or by court order.” In this case, VPR may seek expedited discovery only by court order.

Arguing in favor of certification, VPR directs the court’s attention to its motion for reconsideration. In its memorandum, VPR concedes that the relief sought falls outside traditional adversarial procedure, and states that there is no legal basis to name the ISP providers as defendants. VPR compares the Doe defendants’ IP addresses to “records of who rented which car at a busy car rental agency, in that IP addresses are like cars “leased by subscribers. If a plaintiff was injured by a rental car, the plaintiff can discover the information on who leased the car from the agency by specifying the license plate of the offending vehicle and the date and time when the injury occurred. Without access to the agency's records, all the plaintiff has is the identity of the rental agency, but not who was driving the rental car." The comparison is not apt. The rental agency owns the car and is a potential defendant, so the adversarial process would yield the driver's information. And such information is not necessarily confidential; accident reports and police records may also identify the driver.

In this case, not a single one of the plaintiff's 1,017 potential adversaries has been identified. There is no adversarial process yet. Moreover, VPR ignores the fact that IP subscribers are not necessarily copyright infringers. Carolyn Thompson writes in an MSNBC article of a raid by federal agents on a home that was linked to downloaded child pornography. The identity and location of the subscriber were provided by the ISP. The desktop computer, iPhones, and iPads of the homeowner and his wife were seized in the raid. Federal agents returned the equipment after determining that no one at the home had downloaded the illegal material. Agents eventually traced the downloads to a neighbor who had used multiple IP subscribers' Wi-Fi connections (including a secure connection from the State University of New York). See Carolyn Thompson, Bizarre Pornography Raid Underscores Wi-Fi Privacy Risks (April 25, 2011), http://www.msnbc.msn.com/id/42740201/ns/technology_and_science-wireless/

The list of IP addresses attached to VPR's complaint suggests, in at least some instances, a similar disconnect between IP subscriber and copyright infringer. The ISPs include a number of universities, such as Carnegie Mellon, Columbia, and the University of Minnesota, as well as corporations and utility companies. Where an IP address might actually identify an individual subscriber and address the correlation is still far from perfect, as illustrated in the MSNBC article. The infringer might be the subscriber, someone in the subscriber's household, a visitor with her laptop, a neighbor, or someone parked on the street at any given moment.

VPR argues that, if served with a subpoena, the ISPs are required by law to notify each targeted subscriber and the Does may then move the court to quash the subpoenas. The potential filing of a motion to quash is no reason to abandon the adversarial process. As VPR points out, ex parte motions for expedited discovery have been granted in similar cases in other districts; among the thousands of Does in those cases, relatively few motions to quash have been filed. In at least one case, counsel¹ has sought leave to amend the complaint to add more Doe defendants. See Lightspeed Media Corp. v. Does 1 - 100, Case No. 1:10-cv-05604, d/e 16 (N.D. Ill.) (seeking leave to add Does 101 - 1000 as defendants). In Hard Drive Productions, Inc. v. Does 1 - 1000, counsel sought leave to dismiss more than 100 Doe defendants, stating that some of the Does had "reached a mutually satisfactory resolution of their differences" with the plaintiff. Hard Drive,

Case No. 1:10-cv-05606, d/e 33 (N.D. Ill.).² Orin Kerr, a professor at George Washington University Law School, noted that whether you're guilty or not, "you look like a suspect."³ Could expedited discovery be used to wrest quick settlements, even from people who have done nothing wrong? The embarrassment of public exposure might be too great, the legal system too daunting and expensive, for some to ask whether VPR has competent evidence to prove its case.

In its order denying the motion for expedited discovery, the court noted that until at least one person is served, the court lacks personal jurisdiction over anyone. The court has no jurisdiction over any of the Does at this time; the imprimatur of this court will not be used to advance a "fishing expedition by means of a perversion of the purpose and intent" of class actions. Order, d/e 9.

The motion to certify for interlocutory review [14] is denied.

Entered this 29th day of April, 2011.

STANDING ORDER

AND NOW, this 21st day of January, 2005, for the purposes of consistency and in congruence with the Court's October 13, 2004 Order granting Plaintiffs Motion for Leave to Take Immediate Discovery in Elektra Entertainment Group, Inc. v. Does 1-6, No. Civ.A.04-1241, [Doc. #14], as amended by Order dated October 25, 2004 [Doc. #15], the Court issues the following Standing Order to apply to all current and future copyright infringement actions having "Doe" defendants filed in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania that are related to Civil Action Numbers 04-1239 and 04-1241 and that have been or will be assigned for pre-trial administrative purposes to the undersigned. It is hereby ORDERED as follows:

1. Plaintiffs may take immediate discovery on each respective Doe Defendant's Internet Service Provider ("ISP") to obtain the identity of the Doe Defendant by serving a Rule 45 subpoena that seeks information sufficient to identify the Doe Defendant, including name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, and Media Access Control addresses for each Defendant.
2. Plaintiffs may use the information obtained by this Rule 45 subpoena solely for the purpose of protecting Plaintiffs' rights under the Copyright Act.
3. Plaintiffs shall attach the Court Directed Notice Regarding Issuance of Subpoena, a copy of which is attached to this Order, to the aforementioned Rule 45 subpoena.

The Rule 45 subpoena shall instruct the ISP to distribute a copy of said notice to each Doe Defendant within seven days of service of the subpoena.

4. With respect to cable ISPs, this ruling further authorizes disclosure of information pursuant to 47 U.S.C. § 551(c)(2)(B).
5. Any future notices to any Defendant in these cases must be pre-approved by the Court.

It is further ORDERED that the Clerk of Court shall place this Standing Order on the dockets of all current and future copyright infringement actions having “Doe” defendants filed in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania that have been or will be assigned for pre-trial administrative purposes to the undersigned.

It is so ORDERED.

Civil No. 10-cv-2095-F

v.

DOES 1-3,120,
Defendants,

ORDER SEVERING DOES 2-3,120; QUASHING SUBPOENAS; AND DISMISSING ALL PENDING MOTIONS AS MOOT

Plaintiff, LFP Internet Group, LLC, filed its Original Complaint on October 17, 2010, against Does 1-3,120 alleging copyright infringement of the motion picture, “This Ain’t Avatar XXX,” via the internet. When Plaintiff filed the suit it did not know the names of the alleged infringers, but had identified the Internet Protocol (“IP”) addresses assigned to each Defendant by his or her Internet Service Provider (“ISP”). To discover the actual names of the Doe Defendants in this case, Plaintiff filed a Motion for Leave to Take Discovery Prior to Rule 26(f) Conference, which the Court granted. See Docket No. 8. Plaintiff subpoenaed the ISPs who provide service to the identified IP addresses seeking information sufficient to identify each Doe Defendant, including their names, current (and permanent) addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses, and Media Access Control addresses. This case was transferred to this Court on January 26, 2011. See Docket No. 40.

Upon inspection of Plaintiff's Complaint, the Court finds that Defendants 2-3, 120 have been improperly joined. For the reasons stated below, the Court finds that all Defendants except Doe 1 should be SEVERED from this action.

DISCUSSION

In its Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that "Defendants collectively participated, via the internet, in the unlawful reproduction and distribution of Plaintiff's copyrighted motion picture, 'This Ain't Avatar XXX,' by means of file transfer technology called, BitTorrent." Docket No. 1 at 1-2. According to the Complaint, the BitTorrent software allows a user to log onto a private website, select a reference file containing the desired movie, and load that reference file onto a computer program designed to read such files. After the reference file is loaded, the BitTorrent program is able to employ the BitTorrent protocol to initiate simultaneous connection to hundreds of other users possessing and "sharing" copies of the digital media in the reference file, in this case, Plaintiff's motion picture. The program then coordinates the copying of the film to the user's computer from the other users "sharing" the film. As the film is being copied to the user's computer, the downloaded pieces are immediately made available to other users seeking to obtain the file. Plaintiff alleges that this is how each Defendant simultaneously reproduced and/or distributed the motion picture.

However, there are no allegations in Plaintiff's Complaint that the Defendants are in any way related to each other, or that they acted in concert or as a group in their allegedly offending actions. The Complaint only alleges that "each Defendant, without the permission or consent of the Plaintiff, has used, and continues to use, BitTorrent software to reproduce and/or distribute Plaintiff's motion picture to hundreds of other BitTorrent users." Docket No. 1 at 5. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provide that multiple parties may be joined in one action as defendants if:

(A) any right to relief is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative with respect to or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences; and

(B) any question of law or fact common to all defendants will arise in the action.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 20 (a)(2).

Plaintiff makes no allegation in this case that the claims against the joined defendants "arise out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences." Instead, it seems that the copyright infringement claim against each Defendant is based on the individual acts of each Defendant. Plaintiff only alleges in its Complaint that each defendant uses the same method for committing the infringement, but "merely committing the same type of violation in the same way does not link defendants together for purposes of joinder." West Coast Prods., Inc. v. Does 1-535, No. 3:10-CV-94 (N.D. W. Va. Dec. 16, 2010) (order severing all defendants from action except Doe 1) (quoting Laface Records, LLC v. Does 1-38, 2008 WL 544992, *2 (E.D.N.C. Feb. 27, 2008)).

In fact, several courts agree that where there is no allegation that multiple defendants have acted in concert, joinder is improper. See, e.g. Fonovisa Inc. et al. v. Does 1-41, No. A-04-CA-550-LY (W.D. Tex. Nov. 17, 2004) (sua sponte dismissing without prejudice all but the first defendant in several cases filed by recording companies against numerous Does accused of violating federal copyright laws by downloading music from an “online media distribution system”); BMG Music v. Does 1-4, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53237, *5-6 (N.D. Cal. July 31, 2006) (sua sponte severing multiple defendants in action where only connection between them was allegation they used same ISP to conduct copyright infringement). Accordingly, the Court finds that Defendants’ alleged use of the BitTorrent software system to commit copyright infringement is, without more, insufficient for permissive joinder under Rule 20.

Additionally, permissive joinder is improper in this case because each Defendant will also likely have a different defense. Another district court finding improper joinder explained it this way:

Comcast subscriber John Doe 1 could be an innocent parent whose internet access was abused by her minor child, while John Doe 2 might share a computer with a roommate who infringed Plaintiffs’ works. John Does 3 through 203 could be thieves, just as Plaintiffs believe, inexcusably pilfering Plaintiffs’ property and depriving them, and their artists, of the royalties they are rightly owed.

West Coast Prods., Inc., No. 3:10-CV-94 (quoting BMG Music v. Does 1-203, 2004 WL 953888, *1 (E.D. Pa. Apr. 2, 2004)). Therefore, the Court finds joinder of Defendants 2-3,120 in this case improper.

However, Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 21 states that “[m]isjoinder of parties is not a ground for dismissing an action. On motion or on its own, the court may at any time, on just terms, add or drop a party. The court may also sever any claim against a party.” Fed. R.

Civ. P. 21. Accordingly, the Court will sever all Defendants from this case except Doe 1. Because all claims except Doe 1 will be severed from this action, the subpoenas served in this action pertaining to any other Defendant's ISP are no longer valid. Additionally, the Court is of the opinion that the subpoena served pertaining to Doe 1 should be quashed pending this Court's determination as to whether an attorney ad litem should be appointed to protect Doe 1's interests.

CONCLUSION

For the forgoing reasons, the Court ORDERS that:

(1) All Defendants except Doe 1 are hereby SEVERED from this action;

(2) The subpoenas served on the ISPs listed in Exhibit A of Plaintiff's Complaint (Docket No. 1-1) are hereby QUASHED as to all Defendants, Does 1-3,120. Plaintiff SHALL IMMEDIATELY NOTIFY the recipients of these subpoenas that said subpoenas have been quashed;

(3) Within 30 days from the date of this order, Plaintiff may file individual complaints against those Does whom they wish to proceed. Upon election to proceed, Plaintiff shall submit to the Clerk of the Court filing fees for each of the complaints against those Does whom Plaintiff wishes to proceed. Such cases will be assigned separate civil action numbers and placed on this Court's docket;

(4) Civil Action No. 3:10-cv-2095-F shall be assigned to Doe No. 1 as an individual defendant. The actions filed within 30 days of this Order against any other Doe Defendant severed from this case, will be deemed to have been filed as of October 17, 2010, the date of the filing of the original Complaint;

(5) The pending Motion to Quash (Docket No. 24), as well as any filings that can be construed as motions, in Civil Action No. 3:10-cv-2095-F are hereby DENIED AS MOOT. The Court DENIES WITHOUT PREJUDICE Plaintiff's Motion to Compel (Docket No. 41), because there does not appear to be any objections filed by Doe 1, who is now the only Defendant in this case, the Court is of the opinion the Motion to Compel is now moot, however, Plaintiff is free to re-file the Motion to Compel if necessary; and

(6) The Clerk is directed to transmit copies of this Order to counsel of record and mail a certified copy to each interested party of record.

It is so Ordered.

Signed this 10th day of February, 2011.

IO GROUP, INC.,

No. C 10-04382 SI

Plaintiff,

ORDER SEVERING DOE 1 AND DISMISSING CLAIMS AGAINST DOES 2
- 435 WITHOUT PREJUDICE; MODIFYING DISCOVERY ORDER

v.

DOES 1 - 435,

Defendant.

Plaintiff filed this copyright infringement case on September 28, 2010, alleging that 435 “Doe” defendants illegally reproduced, distributed and publicly shared copies of plaintiff’s copyright protected works on a peer-to-peer network, “eDonkey 2000.” Complaint ¶ 1. Plaintiff identified the IP addresses associated with each of the Does, as well as the particular registered work or works each Doe defendant allegedly reproduced on eDonkey2000 and the date of that reproduction. Id., ¶¶ 22 - 456. On October 8, 2010, plaintiff moved the Court for permission to take early discovery, specifically to issue a subpoena to internet service provider Comcast Internet in order to identify the name, address, e-mail address and telephone number of the subscribers associated with the identified IP addresses. On October 15, 2010, Magistrate Judge Ryu granted the motion for early discovery, but required Comcast to provide each subscriber identified with notice of the subpoena and sufficient time to object to the discovery and/or move to quash the subpoena before releasing the information to plaintiff. Docket No. 9.

After a subscriber, J.W., moved to quash the subpoena,¹ Judge Ryu severed J.W.’s claims from ¹ J.W. also moved for a protective order and to dismiss the claims for lack of personal jurisdiction. See docket Nos. 11-13.

1 this case.² In light of the high likelihood that at least one of the hundreds of other Doe defendants will
 2 decline to consent to the jurisdiction of a magistrate judge, Judge Ryu ordered that this action – the 3 claims against the remaining Doe defendants – be reassigned to an Article III judge. Docket No. 28.
 4 At that time, Judge Ryu also denied plaintiff’s motion to extend the deadline for service on the Doe
 5 defendants due to Comcast’s inability to identify all of the Doe defendants before May 31, 2011.

6 This case was subsequently reassigned to the undersigned Judge. The complaint presents similar 7 allegations to another case presently before this Judge, IO Group, Inc. v. Does 1 - 19, Case No. 10-3851.
 8 That case also asserted copyright infringement claims against 19 Doe defendants who allegedly 9 reproduced one or more of plaintiff’s works on eDonkey2000. After this Court granted plaintiff leave
 10 to serve early discovery in Earthlink, Inc., this Court considered a motion to quash filed by a subscriber, 11 “Doe Defendant 4.” See Case No. 10-3851, Docket No. 23. In ruling on that motion, the Court found 12 that plaintiff had improperly joined Does 1 through 19. December 7, 2010 Order at 4-6. The Court held
 13 that the complaint lacked any specific factual allegations to support plaintiff’s claims that the Doe
 14 defendants conspired or otherwise acted in concert. Id. at 5. Instead, the only specific factual allegations 15 were that the Doe defendants used the same peer-to-peer network to reproduce plaintiff’s works on 16 different dates. Those allegations, however, were insufficient as a matter of law to support joinder and 17 allow plaintiff to benefit from filing one, as opposed to many, lawsuits. Id. at 5. In so ruling, the Court 18 relied on other cases where courts, faced with similarly deficient allegations, sua sponte severed the 19 claims of the misjoined defendants and dismissed the severed defendants. Id. at 5 (citing Laface
 20 Records, LLC v. Does 1 - 38, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14544 (E.D.N.C. Feb. 27, 2008); Interscope
 21 Records v. Does 1-25, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27782 (M.D. Fla. Apr. 1, 2004); BMG Music v. Does,
 22 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 53237, No. 06-01579 (Patel, J.) (N.D. Cal. July 31, 2006); Twentieth Century
 23 Fox Film Corp. v. Does 1-12, No. C 04-04862 WHA (N.D. Cal. Nov. 16, 2004) (Alsup, J.)).

24 This complaint suffers from the same defects the Court identified in IO Group, Inc. v. Does 1- 25 19. There are no facts to support the assertion that defendants conspired with each other to reproduce 26 plaintiff’s works on eDonkey 2000 and the allegations that defendants simply used the same peer-to-27

28 ² The claims against J.W will proceed before Judge Ryu as No. C 10-5821 DMR.

1 peer network to download plaintiff's works – on many different days at many different times – is 2 insufficient to allow plaintiff to litigate against hundreds of different Doe defendants in one action.

3 As such, the Court HEREBY Orders that Does 2 through 435 are SEVERED and DISMISSED
4 from this action. Plaintiff can refile separate complaints against Doe defendants 2 through 435 within 5 twenty (20) days from the date of this Order. If plaintiff files new complaints within twenty (20) days, 6 such actions shall be deemed a continuation of the original action for purposes of the statute of 7 limitations.

8 In light of the severance and dismissal, the Order authorizing early discovery and the issuance
9 of a subpoena on Comcast is now overbroad. Docket No. 9. As such, the Court's October 15, 2010
10 Order is HEREBY modified to allow discovery only as to Doe 1 (see Complaint ¶ 22), and is stayed in 11 all other respects. Plaintiff is hereby ORDERED to serve a copy of this Order on Comcast within two 12 days of its issuance. After such service, Comcast shall not disclose any further information regarding 13 Does 2 through 435 absent further order of this Court. This Order is without prejudice to plaintiff
14 seeking discovery to identify each severed Doe, if and when plaintiff files new complaints against the 15 individual Does. Relatedly, this Order does not prevent plaintiff from using the information already 16 disclosed by Comcast, for example, to file new lawsuits identifying former Doe defendants by name or 17 other identifying information.
